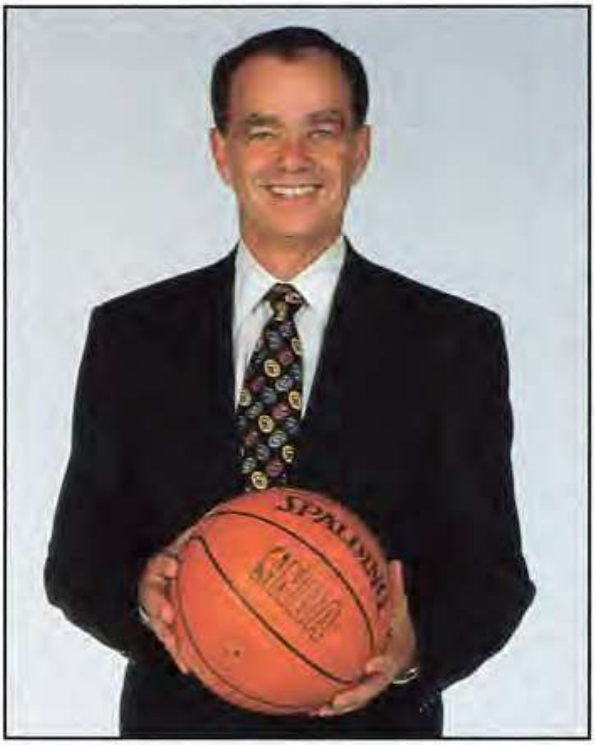
TIMBERWOLVES ADMINISTRATION

GLEN TAYLOR

OWNER



On March 23, 1995, Glen Taylor closed the deal that made him majority owner of the Minnesota Timberwolves. He added the title of NBA franchise owner to a list that already includes international businessman, state senator, entrepreneur, philanthropist and executive of the year.

Before he even completed his first full season as owner, Taylor set in motion his plan for making a mark on the Minnesota sports scene. Prior to the completion of the sale of the team from Marv Wolfenson and Harvey Ratner, Taylor had installed Rob Moor and Roger Griffith as the team's new president and chief financial officer, respectively, and promoted Minnesota and NBA basketball legend Kevin McHale to assistant general manager. With the move of McHale to vice president of basketball operations and the addition of general manager (and now head coach) Phil "Flip" Saunders and director of scouting and player development (and now assistant coach) Jerry Sichting, Taylor has assembled a basketball staff with years of experience in the pro ranks.

Taylor is CEO and Chairman of the Board of Taylor Corporation, located in Mankato, Minn., 75 miles southwest of the Twin Cities. The Taylor companies, which are involved in the printing, marketing and electronics industries, include more than 70 operating divisions in 17 states, three Canadian provinces, the United Kingdom, Australia and Mexico. Their employees number more than 10,000, including more than 5,000 Minnesotans.

Taylor built his company from modest beginnings. While a student at Mankato State University in 1959, he took a part-time job at Carlson Wedding Service. Fifteen years later, in 1974, he acquired a majority interest in the company, laying the foundation for what would soon grow into Taylor Corporation. Taylor Corporation is the nation's largest printer of wedding invitations, controlling more than half that market. Many of the companies products are sold through independent vendors such as gift and stationary stores.

Taylor's business savvy has been recognized by Corporate Report magazine, which honored him as its Executive of the Year, and the Sales and Marketing Executives of Minneapolis/St. Paul who awarded him with its Sales Executive of the Year Award.

Taylor was elected to the Minnesota Senate in 1980, where he served until 1990. He became assistant Senate minority leader in 1982. From 1984 to 1986, he served as Senate minority leader. While in the Senate, Taylor was instrumental in providing leadership in the areas of higher education, child care and economic development policies.

Through personal involvement, Taylor has remained active in many civic and charitable causes. In Mankato, he has served as YMCA President, Chamber of Commerce Director, Mankato Jaycees President and United Way Campaign Chairman. He has also served on his church's board of deacons and board of trustees and on the Mankato State University Foundation board of directors. On the state level, Taylor has served as the director of the Minnesota Business Partnership, director of the Greater Minnesota Corporation and president of the International Thermographers Association.

Nationally, Taylor has provided expert testimony on business and child care issues to the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives and served as a committee chair on the 1991 Commission on Reform and Efficiency (CORE).

In 1997, Mankato State University awarded Taylor its first honorary doctorate. Taylor received the degree of Honorary Doctor of Laws for his distinguished professional career and volunteer service.

Taylor was born April 20, 1941, and raised on a farm 60 miles west of his current home in Mankato. He graduated from Comfrey (Minn.) High School in 1959. In just three years, he earned his bachelor's degree from Mankato State University. He later continued his education at the Harvard Graduate School of Business.

ROB MOOR

PRESIDENT

Never one to sit still with success, Timberwolves president Rob Moor has pushed for continued growth and expansion of the Timberwolves franchise as the team heads into the new millennium. After three consecutive playoff seasons, the team and organization are headed to new places and in new directions under Moor's front office leadership.

"It has been a busy summer for the organization," says Moor. "We have successfully launched the WNBA Minnesota Lynx; we are building a new practice facility for both the Timberwolves and Lynx; and we are preparing to open the Timberwolves' 1999-2000 season in Japan traveling with a huge Minnesota delegation that will include Governor Jesse Ventura."

With the addition of the Lynx, the Timberwolves organization has evolved into a year-round entertainment and marketing organization. From this platform Moor has planned to begin an exciting new phase of branching out into new areas of opportunity. According to Moor, "the resources that these new ventures bring us will be reflected in our continued commitment to build our teams to championship caliber. The new practice facility is one way to show that commitment."

Housed inside Northwest Athletic Club's Arena Club, the practice facility will provide the Timberwolves with a state of the art training facility, beginning in November of 1999. Featuring a new, fully cushioned basketball floor, private weight room, training, video and coaches meeting rooms, the facility will also be available to the Lynx when their 2000 season gets underway.

"The 1999-2000 season openers against Sacramento in the Japan Games in Tokyo is a very exciting opportunity for the Wolves" says Moor. "With the help of our bright young players, Wally Szczerbiak, William Avery and Radoslav Nesterovic, kicking things off in Japan is a great way to position the Timberwolves as one of the leading NBA teams for the new millennium."

Prior to coming to Minnesota Moor was the Executive Vice President of the Los Angeles Kings of the NHL. During his time with the Kings, Moor was instrumental in the purchase and reorganization of the Toronto Argonauts of the CFL, and the development and formation of Upper Deck Authenticated and MultiVision Marketing and Public Relations.

Moor began his career in entertainment at MGM Studios in film production. He was involved in the merger with United Artists and subsequent sale of the studios to Ted Turner. Later, he joined 20th Century Fox working in the areas of film distribution.

Moor is active with several charities in the Twin Cities and is on the board of the Minneapolis Downtown Council. A native of Geneva, Switzerland, Moor moved to the United States in 1966, living in Santa Barbara and Los Angeles, California. Moor and his wife, Taylor, were wed in Scotland and currently reside in Wayzata, Minn.

KEVIN McHALE

V.P. OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

On Oct. 1, 1999, Kevin McHale was inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass. In the typical McHale style, he gave credit to his teammates for helping him to get there. But no one goes into the Hall of Fame without a lot of hard work and personal accomplishment. McHale's Hall of Fame career was marked by his constant desire to improve his play and single-minded focus to win every game he played. That's how he played the game as a power forward/center in Boston, and that is how he is trying to build the Timberwolves team as the vice president of basketball operations in Minnesota.

McHale wasted no time in working to improve the Timberwolves. One of McHale's first moves came shortly after he was named to his current post on May 11, 1995 – he selected high-school phenom Kevin Garnett with the fifth-overall pick in the 1995 NBA Draft. Considered a bold move at the time, McHale and his staff were rewarded with an outstanding rookie campaign from Garnett. Garnett's improvement and McHale's continual reshaping of the Wolves roster have resulted in three consecutive years of playoff basketball in Minnesota.

McHale has had a history of success in the game of basketball. In high school, he led Hibbing to the Minnesota Class AA State Basketball Tournament title game; in college, he posted a career average of 15.2 points and 8.5 rebounds per game in four seasons at the University of Minnesota, earning first-team All-Big Ten honors in 1979 and 1980; and in the pro ranks, he joined the Boston Celtics for three NBA championships, the first coming in his rookie season with the team.

McHale continued that tradition of quick successes with the Timberwolves, moving from special assistant coach in 1993-94 to assistant general manager in 1994-95 to his latest endeavor as vice president of basketball operations. In that role, McHale is responsible for the franchise's entire basketball operations department – overseeing player personnel decisions, scouting and the coaching staff.

In McHale's first season with the Wolves, 1993-94, he served as a special assistant to the coaching staff. That position utilized the experience of his lengthy basketball career, which culminated in the retiring of his pro, college and high-school game jerseys. In August 1994, he was promoted to a newly-created position of assistant general manager.

With the demands of his vice-president position, McHale relinquished his broadcasting duties with the Wolves. For two seasons, 1993-95, fans enjoyed the insight and wit he brought to his broadcast analysis on the Timberwolves Television Network. His unique style and perspective, combined with the talents of Kevin Harlan, Chad Hartman and Tom Hanneman, made for one of the top local broadcasts in the NBA.

Prior to coming to the Timberwolves organization, McHale played 13 seasons for the Celtics before retiring in the spring of 1993. A first-round selection (third overall) by Boston in the 1980 NBA Draft, McHale helped lead the Celtics to three NBA championships (1981, 1984 and 1986), five Eastern Conference titles and eight Atlantic Division crowns. He was voted the NBA's top sixth man twice (1984, 1985) and was selected to the All-NBA First Team in 1987. He was also named to the NBA All-Defensive First Team three times (1986, 1987 and 1988). The 6 ft.-10 in. forward/center averaged 17.9 points and 7.3 rebounds in 971 regular-season career games. He shot an impressive 55.4 percent from the floor and 79.8 percent at the free throw line. In 169 post-season contests, McHale upped his averages to 18.8 points and 7.4 rebounds.

His recent Hall of Fame induction is just the latest honor McHale has received for his basketball prowess. On Feb. 18, 1995, he was honored as the top player in U of M men's basketball history, as the school celebrated its 100th anniversary in the sport. And during the 1997 All-Star Game in Cleveland, McHale was honored as one of the NBA's Top 50 Players for the league's first half-century.

A native of Hibbing, Minn., McHale was born Dec. 19, 1957. Kevin and his wife, Lynn, along with their five children, Kristyn, Michael, Joseph, Alexandra and Thomas, reside in North Oaks, Minn.

FLIP SAUNDERS

GENERAL MANAGER/HEAD COACH

There's an old adage that says you reap what you sow. Timberwolves general manager and head coach Phil "Flip" Saunders has planted the seeds of success for the Timberwolves franchise and as a result was rewarded with a multi-year contract extension in July.

Saunders has led the Timberwolves to the postseason in each of his three full seasons as the team's head coach. He has played a vital role in turning around a franchise that had averaged just 21 wins a season before his arrival.

In 1997-98, Saunders coached the Wolves to their first-ever winning season (45-37) – which included all-time highs in road wins (19), home wins (26) and best winning percentage (54.9). He also led the team to its first-ever postseason victory – as the Timberwolves beat the Seattle SuperSonics twice before falling in the final game of the best-of-five playoff series. In his first full season as the team's head coach, 1996-97, Saunders became the all-time winningest coach in franchise history, leading the team to a then all-time best record (40-42) and its first-ever playoff appearance. Last season, Saunders held together a club that lost two key players and numerous others to injury to record a 25-25 mark. Overall, he has a 130-146 (47.1%) record in 276 games at the Timberwolves' helm. In his three full seasons as head coach, he has a 110-104 (51.4%) mark.

After seven seasons as a coach in the Continental Basketball Association (CBA), Saunders was named general manager of the Timberwolves on May 11, 1995. But his stay in a front-office-only capacity was to be short-lived. On Dec. 18, 1995, he added the title of head coach to his resume', replacing Bill Blair. Saunders guided the Timberwolves to a 20-42 (32.3%) mark in 62 games during the 1995-96 season, and was instrumental in the significant development of rookie Kevin Garnett and a change in the team's attitude on the floor and in the locker room.

Saunders' record of basketball coaching success has a history of its own. He ranks third all-time in the CBA with 253 victories. He began his CBA career in 1988-89 with the Rapid City (S.D.) Thrillers, then moved on to the La Crosse (Wis.) Catbirds for five seasons (1989-94) before coaching the 1994-95 campaign with the Sioux Falls (S.D.) Skyforce. He also served as general manager (1991-93) and team president (1991-94) of the Catbirds.

FLIP SAUNDERS

Saunders' impressive CBA coaching resume includes seven consecutive seasons of 30-or-more victories, two CBA championships (1990, 1992), two CBA Coach of the Year honors (1989, 1992) and 23 CBA-to-NBA player promotions.

Saunders began his successful coaching career at Golden Valley Lutheran College where he compiled a 92-13 record, including a perfect 56-0 mark at home, in four seasons. In 1981, he joined the coaching staff at his alma mater – the University of Minnesota – as an assistant and helped coach the Golden Gophers to the 1982 Big Ten championship. After five seasons at Minnesota, he moved to an assistant coach position at the University of Tulsa where he worked for two seasons before heading to the pro ranks.

Saunders was an All-America basketball player at Cuyahoga Heights High School in Cleveland. In October, he was inducted into the school's Hall of Fame. In his senior season, 1973, he was named Ohio's Class A High School Basketball Player of the Year after averaging a state-high 32.0 points a game. He continued his basketball career at Minnesota where he started 101 of his 103 career contests. As a senior, he teamed with Kevin McHale, the Timberwolves' vice president of basketball operations, to lead the Gophers to a then all-time school-best 24-3 record.

Saunders was born Feb. 23, 1955 in Cleveland, Ohio. Flip and his wife, Debbie, have four children: Ryan, Mindy and twins, Rachel and Kimberly.

Rob Babcock enters his sixth season as the Timberwolves' director of player personnel. He was promoted to that position prior to the start of the 1994-95 season after spending the previous two years as a full-time scout with the organization.

Prior to working for the Nuggets, Babcock was the head basketball coach at Phoenix (Ariz.) College, where his teams advanced to the ACCAC playoffs twice and were the regional runners-up in 1986.

A native of Phoenix, Babcock earned high-school All-America basketball honors in his senior season. He attended Grand Canyon College in Phoenix and helped his team to a second-place finish in the 1974 NAIA final national rankings.

Following his graduation from Grand Canyon, Babcock began his coaching career in Mexico City at The American School Foundation. From Mexico City, he returned to Phoenix where he coached at Greenway and Maryvale high schools. In 1982, he earned Southwest Valley Coach of the Year honors.

DIRECTOR OF SCOUTING AND PLAYER DEVELOPMENT/ASSISTANT COACH

On May 11, 1995, Jerry Sichting was named director of scouting and player development for the Minnesota Timberwolves. On Dec. 18, 1995, he added assistant coach to his title. Known throughout his NBA playing career as a hard-nosed, tenacious competitor, Sichting brings those same qualities of dedication with him to his first NBA front-office and coaching position.

Sichting acquired an in-depth knowledge of the pro game from his 10 seasons as a player in the NBA. He began his career in 1980 and spent the following five seasons with the Indiana Pacers, averaging a career-high 11.5 points per game during the 1983-84 season.

In 1985, Sichting signed with the Boston Celtics as a free agent and became an integral reserve. In 1986, he teamed with Timberwolves vice president of basketball operations Kevin McHale to lead the Celtics to the World Championship. Midway through the 1987-88 campaign he was traded to the Portland Trail Blazers. He finished his playing career in 1989-90 as a member of the Charlotte Hornets and Milwaukee Bucks.

Sichting appeared in 598 career regular-season games where he recorded an average of 6.9 points and 3.3 assists per game. He saw action in 47 playoff contests posting averages of 3.0 points and 1.7 assists per outing.

After his playing career ended, Sichting remained in Boston and ran the Jerry Sichting Basketball Camp for five years. He also spent four seasons (1991-95) serving as the analyst on Boston Celtics radio broadcasts. His broadcast resume also includes fill-in roles on radio and television with the Indiana Pacers during the 1990-91 season, commentating on various high school broadcasts throughout Indiana and a pregame show for his alma mater – Purdue University – on WTTV-TV.

Sichting is a native of Martinsville, Ind. Jerry and his wife, Joni, have four children: Jared, Jason, Jordan and Jenna.

GREG BALLARD

ASSISTANT COACH

Greg Ballard enters his sixth season in Minnesota, joining the Timberwolves' coaching staff on Sept. 28, 1994. He came to Minnesota from the Dallas Mavericks, where he also served as an assistant coach. Ballard had worked as an international scout for Burghy Roma of the Italian League before returning to the NBA to serve on Quinn Buckner's staff in Dallas.

The fourth overall pick in the 1977 NBA Draft out of the University of Oregon, Ballard played eight seasons with the Washington Bullets, including his rookie year on their 1978 NBA championship squad. He was traded to Golden State in June 1985, and played two seasons with the Warriors before heading to Italy where he played for a year-and-a-half. He also had a brief stint in the CBA and with the Seattle SuperSonics. He returned to Italy to serve as an assistant coach on the 1989-90 Il Messagero Roma team, which featured current NBA players Danny Ferry and Brian Shaw.

Ballard owns a career average of 12.4 points per game in 802 NBA regular-season contests. He posted a career-high average of 18.8 points an outing in the 1981-82 season.

In addition to being a member of the University of Oregon Hall of Fame, Ballard was inducted into the state of Oregon Hall of Fame in August 1996.

A native of Los Angeles, Ballard was a highly regarded baseball prospect as a pitcher and was selected by the Montreal Expos in the 15th round of the 1973 free-agent baseball draft. Greg and his wife, Donna, have three children, Lawrence, Gabrielle and Gregory, Jr.

SIDNEY LOWE

ASSISTANT COACH

Sidney Lowe returns to the Timberwolves organization where he previously served as a player, broadcast analyst, assistant coach and head coach.

Lowe spent the past six seasons (1993-99) as an assistant coach with the Cleveland Cavaliers. During his time in Cleveland, the Cavs posted a 248-212 (53.9%) record and made four postseason appearances.

Lowe began his coaching career in 1991-92 as an assistant with the Wolves under head coach Jimmy Rodgers. The following season, he was named interim head coach replacing Rodgers on Jan. 11. Under Lowe, Minnesota finished the 1992-93 season with a 13-30 mark. On Mar. 24, the interim label was removed and Lowe became the third head coach in franchise history. In 1993-94, the Timberwolves compiled a 20-62 record under Lowe. He was replaced as head coach by Bill Blair for the 1994-95 campaign.

FEBRUARY (8-5)

RINGTHEBELL.ZZ on Archive.org

The Wolves jumped out to a 4-1 start in the truncated 1998-99 season. After splitting a season-opening two-game road trip with a win in Denver and a loss at San Antonio, the Wolves defeated the Spurs (Feb. 9) and L.A. Lakers (Feb. 11) at Target Center. On Feb. 17, Stephon Marbury became just the fifth player in NBA history to record 40+ points, 10+ assists and 0 turnovers in the same game. Marbury scored 40 points and added 12 assists in a 116-102 victory vs. Houston. The Wolves finished perfect on their four-game home stand with wins over Vancouver, Sacramento and San Antonio. The month ended with back-to-back road losses at New York and Toronto, and a Target Center defeat at the hands of the Portland Trail Blazers. The loss to Portland snapped a club-record 12-game home winning streak. Minnesota was 6-1 at home, but just 2-4 on the road. The eight February victories equaled the third highest monthly total in franchise history. The 8-5 mark represented the best start in franchise history after 13 contests, besting their best previous record set last season at 6-7. Kevin Garnett paced the club at 19.4 ppg and 10.8 rpg in February. Stephon Marbury added 18.8 ppg and a team-high 9.8 apg. Joe Smith added averages of 15.1 ppg and 7.9 rpg.

MARCH (9-8, 17-13)

Like they did in February, Minnesota came out strong in March winning five of its first seven games. With home victories over Golden State and Seattle and road triumphs at Vancouver, Seattle and Sacramento, the Wolves had upped their mark to 13-7. But the real news for the month occurred on Mar. 11 when the Timberwolves dealt starting point guard Stephon Marbury, along with reserves Bill Curley and Chris Carr to the New Jersey Nets. In a three-team deal, that also sent center Paul Grant to Milwaukee, the Wolves received point guard Terrell Brandon from Milwaukee and forward Brian Evans from New Jersey. With injuries to off-guards Anthony Peeler and Malik Sealy, coupled with the newly added Brandon at point guard, the Wolves hit a skid dropping six of eight games following the trade. The club righted the boat at the end of the month reeling off four wins in its final six outings. Home wins over Miami and Dallas were matched by road victories at Denver and Boston. The Wolves held the Celtics to an all-time franchise opposition low of 68 points. The Wolves finished March with a 9-8 record, eclipsing their previous March best (8-8 in both 1995-96 and 1997-98). Through the end of the month, 19 players had seen action in a Wolves uniform, setting a new club record; previously 18 different players appeared for Minnesota in 1994-95. Kevin Garnett again paced the Wolves averaging 21.3 ppg and 11.1 rpg. Joe Smith chipped in 13.1 ppg and 9.3 rpg in 14 games and Terrell Brandon averaged 14.8 ppg and 8.0 apg in his 10 contests in a Wolves uniform.

APRIL (7-10, 24-23)

April began with three straight home wins (Denver, Sacramento and Dallas) only to be matched by three consecutive road defeats (Phoenix, L.A. Clippers and L.A. Lakers). Point guard Terrell Brandon suffered a right thigh contusion in a collision with Dallas center Shawn Bradley. The injury put Brandon on the IR for nine games, in which the Wolves would eventually go 2-7. After a home win over Detroit on Apr. 11, three more setbacks ensued (at home to Houston and on the road in San Antonio and Dallas). The latter road defeats came without leading scorer and rebounder Kevin Garnett, who was recuperating after a hospital stay for flu-like symptoms and dehydration. Another home win, this time against Vancouver, was followed by four more defeats (vs. Utah, at Seattle, Sacramento and Portland). From Apr. 12-25, the Timberwolves dropped seven of eight decisions. In those seven losses, the Wolves averaged just 89.4 ppg, and found their playoff fortunes to be in peril. Two straight home wins, over Phoenix and Golden State, ended the month with renewed hope. Kevin Garnett paced the Wolves for the third consecutive month in scoring (21.9 ppg) and rebounds (9.2 rpg). Joe Smith contributed 15.4 ppg and 7.2 rpg in 14 appearances. Sam Mitchell averaged 13.5 ppg, while Terrell Brandon averaged a team-high 9.9 apg in April.

MAY (1-2, 25-25)

The Wolves opened their May with a win in their final regular season game at home. The 103-93 victory over the L.A. Clippers put the Wolves closer to clinching a playoff spot. Seattle's loss to the Los Angeles Lakers on May 2 clinched a postseason berth for Minnesota for a third consecutive season. The Wolves closed out the regular season with losses at Houston (100-83 on May 4) and Phoenix (100-96 on May 5). Kevin Garnett was Minnesota's leader in all three May contests, averaging 19.0 ppg and 10.3 rpg.

The Wolves' 19-turnover outing matched their second-highest total of the year, and also equaled a team playoff high (at Seattle, May 2, 1998)... Minnesota has now been outscored by an average of 18.3 ppg (88.0-106.3) in the opening games of its three playoff series to date... Kevin Garnett's five blocks broke his own club playoff single-game record; he'd rejected four shots at Seattle on Apr. 26, 1998... Terrell Brandon equaled the franchise playoff mark with four steals.

Tim Duncan's 16-rebound effort set a new playoff mark for most boards by a Wolves opponent, eclipsing Charles Barkley's 15 on Apr. 26, 1997 at Houston... SERIES NOTES:

TWO-MAN GAME: Kevin Garnett (21.8 ppg) and Terrell Brandon (19.3) combined to score over half of the Wolves' points in the series... The duo totaled 164 points in the four games (41.0 ppg), while the rest of Minnesota's roster scored 158 (39.5 ppg)... The only other Wolves player to average in double figures was Sam Mitchell (10.0)... In 1998's five-game playoff loss to Seattle, all five Minnesota starters averaged at least 13.8 ppg.

ONE FOR THE BOOKS: Garnett's series averages of 21.8 ppg and 12.0 rpg both set club playoff records... Both previous highs were set in 1996-97 vs. Houston; Stephon Marbury tallied 21.3 ppg and Dean Garrett pulled down 11.7 rpg against the Rockets... As a team, the Wolves established playoff highs with their 43.5 rpg and 6.00 bpg marks vs. San Antonio... However, Minnesota's 80.5 ppg average and 39.6% shooting set new playoff lows.

NO FREE LUNCH: San Antonio outscored the Wolves by 25 points in the series (347-322), including 24 from the free throw line (80-56)... The Spurs averaged 9.0 FTAs per game more than Minnesota, taking 27.3 trips to the Wolves' 18.3... That's exactly the same margin San Antonio enjoyed during the regular season vs. Minnesota (28.3-19.3).. Against the NBA this year, the Wolves averaged 10.8 more FG attempts per contest, and outscored their opponents by a total of 225 points from the floor... However, Minnesota was outscored by 206 points from the line, as they faced a deficit of -6.5 FTAs per night.

LOW WATTAGE: Neither team cracked the Century Mark during the four-game series, as the Wolves limited San Antonio to 86.8 ppg... During the regular season, Minnesota topped 90 only once against the Spurs, while holding San Antonio below 90 in two of the four meetings... Overall, the Spurs have held Minnesota under 100 in 10 consecutive games, while the Wolves have allowed San Antonio to top 100 only once in their last 16 meetings.

The Wolves also set a season low for points in a half (32), and tied their low for points in a quarter (11) in Game 1... Minnesota's 3-for-24 (12.5%) effort in the 2nd period marked the second-lowest quarter percentage in franchise history... The Sonics, which trailed by six points entering the fourth quarter, tied the game for the final time at 86-86 with 4:14 to play after Payton scored four straight. But Garnett's layup a minute later gave Minnesota the lead for good, and the Wolves went 6-for-6 from the line in the final 15 seconds.

GAME 2 NOTES: After shooting just 33.7% in Game 1 (including 22.2% before halftime), the Wolves were 11-for-21 (52.4%) in the first quarter to build an eight-point cushion... Minnesota set a club playoff record by grabbing 20 offensive rebounds, leading to a 23-14 advantage in second-chance points... Seattle's largest lead in the game was two points... The Wolves committed 11 turnovers (to 14 for Seattle), and racked up an 18-4 edge in points off TOs... Only seven Wolves saw action in the game, with three logging 40+ minutes (Marbury 44, Peeler 41, Porter 41).

GAME 3 – APRIL 28 AT TARGET CENTER | Attendance – 19,006 | Time – 2:16

The Sonics jumped out to a 22-12 lead midway through the first quarter, and extended the lead to 11 points (28-17) on Gary Payton's three-pointer with 1:50 left in the period. Minnesota rallied to lead 50-46 at halftime, before the Sonics went back ahead in the third quarter. Seattle led by five points (72-67) entering the fourth quarter, but Minnesota outscored them 26-6 over the first 9:00 of the period to take a commanding 93-78 lead. Anthony Peeler and Sam Mitchell each had playoff career highs with 20 and 19 points, respectively, for the Wolves. Payton scored 26 points and Vin Baker had 17 points and 12 rebounds for Seattle.

GAME 3 NOTES: The win marked the first time Minnesota had beaten the Sonics at Target Center since Dec. 30, 1990 (a 126-106 decision); Seattle had won 15 straight in Minnesota since that time... The Sonics' 90-point total is the fewest Minnesota has allowed in a playoff game... The Wolves set club playoff records in every three-point category, hitting 10-for-21 (47.6%) from beyond the arc – including 7-for-11 in the first half.

GAME 4 – APRIL 30 AT TARGET CENTER

Attendance – 19,006 | Time – 2:14

	1	2	3	4	Final	Hi Scorer	Hi Reb	Hi Assist

Minnesota	21	22	20	25	88	Garnett 20	Garnett 10	Marbury 7

Seattle rode the hot hand of Hersey Hawkins to an early 14-point lead, and held on behind Gary Payton to take a 92-88 victory over the Timberwolves and even the series at two games apiece. Hawkins scored 16 of his 24 points in the first quarter, hitting 4-of-5 from three-point range. Payton, meanwhile, tallied 16 of his 24 after intermission to help stave off the Wolves' comeback bid. Minnesota rallied to take a 61-58 lead midway through the third quarter, but the Sonics outscored them 19-6 over the next eight minutes to go up 77-67. Kevin Garnett had 20 points and 10 rebounds for Minnesota, while Anthony Peeler added 19 points and Terry Porter 13. Vin Baker tallied 13 points and 12 boards for Seattle.

GAME 4 NOTES: The loss marked Minnesota's first Target Center defeat since Mar. 18 vs. San Antonio... The Wolves closed the regular season with a club-record six-game home winning streak (including wins over Miami, Utah, and Houston), then beat the Sonics in Game 3 on Apr. 28... The final four-point margin marked the third straight game in the series to be decided by less than 10 points... Three of the four regular-season meetings between Minnesota and Seattle had single-digit margins as well, including the Sonics' 99-98 OT win at Target Center on Mar. 8.

GAME 5 – MAY 2 AT KEYARENA

Attendance – 17,072 | Time – 2:27

	1	2	3	4	Final	Hi Scorer	Hi Reb	Hi Assist
Minnesota	27	20	17	20	84	Peeler 28	Jordan 8	Marbury 8
Seattle	24	20	27	26	97	Payton 29	Schrempf 11	Three with 4

Gary Payton tallied 29 points and Seattle overcame an early 12-point deficit to beat the Timberwolves 97-84 and advance to the Western Conference semifinals. Minnesota opened up a 41-29 lead midway through the second quarter behind Anthony Peeler's three-point barrage, and led 47-44 at halftime. The Wolves went 10-for-15 from beyond the arc in the first half, including Peeler's 5-for-6 effort. However, Payton (11) and Hersey Hawkins (9) combined for 20 points in the third quarter to fuel the Sonics' comeback. Seattle put the game away by making all 12 of its free throws in the fourth quarter. Hawkins finished with 24 points for the Sonics, while Detlef Schrempf added 16 points and 11 rebounds. Peeler scored a playoff career-high 28 for Minnesota, with Sam Mitchell and Terry Porter adding 16 and 14 points, respectively.

GAME 5 NOTES: The 12-point, 2nd-quarter lead was the biggest Minnesota let slip away in the series; they'd made up an 11-point deficit in winning Game 3... The Wolves finished 11-for-14 at the free-throw line, compared to Seattle's 27-for-29 showing... Seattle outrebounded the Wolves 39-31, marking the only time in the series that the home team held the advantage... After outboarding the Sonics by +2 and +12, respectively, in the first two games, Minnesota went -13, -1, and -8 over the final three... ACTIVE LIST

The maximum number of active players is 12, the minimum is 11. At no time shall a team be permitted to dress fewer than eight players for a regular-season game or fewer than nine for a playoff game. During the off-season and training camp, teams may carry no more than 20 active players.

INJURED LIST

A player transferred to the injured list due to injury or illness must stay there for no fewer than five games.

TEN-DAY CONTRACT

On or after the 55th day following the first game, a team may sign a player to a 10-day contract. This procedure may be used only to replace a player assigned to the injured list. No player may be signed to more than two 10-day agreements.

WAIVERS

From Aug. 15 to the end of the regular season, clubs may claim waived players within 48 hours after notice. Players waived at any other time may be claimed within 10 days. If no team claims the waived player, he becomes a free agent. If more than one club claims a waived player, the club with the lesser record at that time claims the player.

GUARANTEED CONTRACT DATE

On the 56th day of the regular season, all player contracts become guaranteed for the remainder of the season.

RENUNCIATION OF AMATEUR ELIGIBILITY

A person whose high-school class has graduated shall become eligible for the college draft if he renounces his intercollegiate basketball eligibility by written notice to the NBA at least 45 days prior to the draft. Prior to 45 days before the draft, teams may not make direct or indirect contact with players who have eligibility left. Clubs may contact players without remaining eligibility, but may not discuss compensation.

NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

A total of 16 teams qualify for the NBA playoffs: the four division winners and the next six teams in each conference according to their won-lost record – regardless of division. The first round is best-of-five games and each succeeding round, including the NBA Finals, is best-of-seven games.

In every series, the home-court advantage in the extra game goes to the team with the better record during the regular season, regardless of its standing in the division race. Thus, if a division winner plays a second-place team from another division that had a better record, the second-place team would get home-court advantage.

In determining the playoff matches, the eight qualifiers are ranked Teams 3 through 8 according to their records. The playoff pairings for the First Round are teams 1-8, 2-7, 3-6, and 4-5 in each conference. In the conference semifinals, the winner of teams 1-8 plays the winner of teams 4-5 and the winner of teams 2-7 plays the winner of teams 3-6.

The NBA Finals will be played on a 2-3-2 basis, the team with the better regular-season record getting the home-court advantage for the first and last two games. Other best-of-seven series are 2-2-1-1-1.

Some portions of the playoff format were revised in June, 1983. A vote by the NBA Board of Governors made the revisions effective in the 1984 playoffs. The major revisions included allowing 16 teams to qualify for the playoffs and changing the first-round best-of-three series to a best-of-five series.

NOTE: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the best record. Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

Mission Statement

The Minnesota Timberwolves Community Foundation wants to positively impact the lives of the youth in our Minnesota communities, enabling them to make responsible decisions, and helping them to contribute to their own future.

Since 1989, the Minnesota Timberwolves Community Foundation has been a vital contributor to the Twin Cities community as well as to many communities throughout the state. Providing more than $2 million in charitable contributions over the past decade, the Timberwolves Foundation has created many new community initiatives, while providing necessary funding to many worthwhile programs and charitable organizations.

The Timberwolves Foundation has been a driving force behind many youth-related projects over the past nine years, including: the Timberwolves Stay-in-School initiative, The NBA Team-UP Program, The Tickets for Kids program, Boys in the Hood Junior League, Project Rebound, Jump Start to Reading, the Timberwolves Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Holiday celebration, the Give-and-Go Basketball Leagues, the Timberwolves Holiday Hospital Tours and many others.

The Timberwolves Foundation strives to do more than provide financial support for these and many other charitable causes and organizations. The Foundation's goal is to create an interactive relationship that often includes tickets to home games, player and staff visits and incentives for at-risk youth.

Stay-in School Program

A hallmark program of professional basketball and the Minnesota Timberwolves, the Stay-in-School program is a junior high school initiative focusing on attitude, attendance and achievement. All of the Minneapolis and St. Paul Jr. High Schools take part in this year-long program. All sixth-, seventh- and eighth-grade students from the participating schools are eligible to sign a contract in October. If they meet their monthly objectives as established by their teachers, they receive monthly visits and incentives. Those who succeed throughout the year are treated to a Stay-in-School Jam at Target Center featuring Timberwolves players and national recording and entertainment stars.

Jump Start to Reading

This program is designed to encourage fourth- and fifth-grade students to read at least four books each month during their leisure time. If a student achieves or surpasses their goal of four books, he or she will be rewarded with incentives provided by the Timberwolves and a participating sponsor. Each month a player/staff member will visit the classroom which has read the most books. The player/staff member will either choose to read a short story or talk about a subject of his or her choice.

Thanksgiving Turkey Giveaway

Timberwolves players and coaches distribute several hundred turkeys to needy families and individuals. Coupons are sent to several area shelters who make certain they are given to individuals who need the assistance. The meals are distributed in the lobby of Target Center by the entire Timberwolves team.

Holiday Party for Kids

Approximately 250 children from local shelters and community agencies are invited to a party, sponsored by the Timberwolves and Mall of America Youth Council, at Mall of America to celebrate the holidays. The party takes place in the Playhouse Theatre at Camp Snoopy with the theme of "Welcome to Our Home." Each child receives a meal, free ride passes, gift certificates to any store in the mall, face painting and a tour of Underwater World. Timberwolves players help distribute the gifts as they spread holiday cheer with the children and families.

Holiday Hospital Tour

Timberwolves players and coaches visit area children's hospitals and shelters to distribute gifts and holiday cheer. Each Timberwolves player and coach participates in this annual act of giving. Many of the children are suffering from or recovering from serious illnesses and challenges.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Holiday Program

Each January, the Timberwolves host a special celebration to commemorate the life and work of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Students and fans are invited to observe the holiday by attending a special program. The format includes a national speaker, special musical performances by local and national acts, as well as appearances by Timberwolves players. All students participating in the Stay-in-School program are invited to attend along with a family member, and other local community agencies are provided with complimentary tickets so that families can attend this important event.

Tickets for Kids

The Timberwolves donate more than 50,000 tickets per season to non-profit agencies, schools and shelters. Season-ticket holders also donate unused tickets to this program for distribution. This program allows less fortunate individuals to see a NBA basketball game and visit Target Center. Individual and corporate grants for tickets are matched by Timberwolves players and the Timberwolves Foundation.

Taste of the Timberwolves

The primary fundraiser for the Timberwolves Foundation, this casual night of dining and interaction with Timberwolves players and coaches is a once-in-a-lifetime experience for a fan. Every year, more than a dozen of the Twin Cities' finest restaurants donate their foods and services to create an unforgettable buffet, while players and coaches take on all challengers in Ping-Pong, pool, free throw shooting, putt putt golf and other activities.

Scholarship Program

Along with regional cable partner, MSC, the Timberwolves provide six $2,500 scholarships to high school seniors who are enrolled in college programs for the fall semester. This past year, more than 500 applications were received from students throughout Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. The scholarships focus on community service, academic achievement and overall character.

Fraser Community Services

In 1999, the Timberwolves Foundation has selected Fraser Community Services as its "signature relationship". This unique partnership includes a $50,000 gift, volunteer and event support, as well as exposure and promotion on Timberwolves broadcasts and games for this non-profit organization which has served children with disabilities and other special needs for more than 60 years. Fraser's services include early childhood education, physical and speech therapy and respite care. Additionally, Fraser provides residential programs for adults with disabilities.

Stars of Ours

At selected home games, the Timberwolves will recognize "Stars of Ours." These individuals will be cited for meritorious acts within the Twin Cities area. At each of the selected games, the Timberwolves will honor an individual who has committed an act beyond the scope and realm of their everyday occupational focus. There will also be a scoreboard recognition during the first break in the action and an award presentation citing the individual's commendable act.

TeamUp

The 1999-2000 season marks the fourth year of the NBA's TeamUp program. The primary goal of this program is to help young people understand the many issues facing society and focuses on their ability to make a difference in the lives of others through community service projects. Timberwolves players, coaches and staff will participate in one volunteer activity per month with area high school students.

American Heart Association

In conjunction with the American Heart Association (AHA), the Timberwolves promote the importance of healthy living habits among children through the HeartPower program. The Wolves and AHA realize the importance of developing healthy living habits at a young age because many of the risk factors associated with heart disease and stroke are related to lifestyle choices that are developed in childhood. Developing heart-healthy habits in childhood may be the single most important factor in reducing the risk of cardiovascular disease in adulthood.

T-Mates

While the Timberwolves players may get the headlines, their spouses are making news for themselves as well. The Timberwolves Wives Organization, established in 1995, has been involved in numerous fundraisers and benefits. The organization, comprised of wives of the Timberwolves players, coaches and basketball staff, strives to reach out and make a difference in the community. Past credits include a team calendar with all proceeds benefiting the Oncology Unit of the Minnesota's Children's Hospital, and a Black Tie dinner, featuring dining and entertainment with Timberwolves players and coaches.

A.C.E.S.

A.C.E.S. (Athletes Committed to Educating Students) is an after-school tutoring/mentoring program for inner-city children in Minneapolis and St. Paul. The program involves athletes and staff from the Timberwolves, Thunder, Twins, Vikings and Wild who, at various sessions, lead educational activities for the students. The two participating schools are Jackson Preparatory Magnet in St. Paul and Powderhorn Community School in Minneapolis. The target group for the program begins with fourth-grade students and continues with them until graduation.

SEAN GRANDE

TELEVISION PLAY-BY-PLAY ANNOUNCER

Sean Grande returns for his second season on Timberwolves television broadcasts as play-by-play announcer calling the action on KARE, KMWB and MSC. Grande joined the Wolves in Oct. of 1998, making him the youngest play-by-play voice in the NBA.

An 11-year broadcast veteran, Grande came to Minnesota from Boston College, where he was the voice of the Eagles for four seasons and sports director for WEEI sports radio in Boston.

Grande has worked in a variety of broadcasting positions, including Hockey East play-by-play anchor for Fox Sports Network, as a member of the NCAA Hockey Selection Show on ESPN2, and for three years as the anchor of the Stanley Cup Playoffs on NHL Radio. He was honored with the 1999 New England Emmy Award for Outstanding Play-by-Play, for his coverage of the Hockey East Game of the Week.

Prior to going to BC, Grande spent seven years at Boston University, calling football, hockey and basketball. During one four-day stint in 1994, the versatile Grande called the Boston University-Eastern Kentucky NCAA football playoff game, flew to Los Angeles for a college hockey doubleheader the following night and then completed the hat trick 48 hours later back east in Rhode Island with a BU-Providence basketball game.

In addition to his television duties with the Wolves, Grande serves as the radio voice of the WNBA's Minnesota Lynx.

A New York City native, Grande and his wife Lori, reside in Minneapolis.

TOM HANNEMAN

BROADCAST HOST

One of the most versatile and familiar voices in Minnesota sports broadcasting, Tom Hanneman begins his 11th season as broadcast host on Timberwolves television broadcasts and on the Timberwolves Radio Network.

Recognized for his smooth and mellifluous delivery, Hanneman is the only person in Timberwolves history to take part in every broadcast since the team's inception. Hanneman's talents have also received nationwide exposure. He worked four seasons as the studio host of NBA Radio, anchoring a 140-station network that features the All-Star Weekend, the NBA Game of the Week and expanded NBA playoff and draft coverage. In addition, Hanneman's NBA Radio work took him to Toronto to host the 1994 World Championship of Basketball for the network, and he hosted a weekly radio show for the BBC in London, in addition to broadcasts in Australia and New Zealand.

Hanneman was already familiar to Minnesota sports fans when he joined the Timberwolves broadcast team in 1989. For the previous 16 years he was seen by Twin Citians as a news and sports reporter on WCCO-TV. A personable and entertaining style, with a healthy dose of wit, has been a long-time Hanneman trademark.

Born in La Crosse, Wis., Tom makes his home in Eden Prairie, Minn., along with his wife, Nancy, and their children, Adam, Courtney and Kyle.

CHAD HARTMAN

RADIO PLAY-BY-PLAY ANNOUNCER

Chad Hartman enters his tenth season of broadcasting Minnesota Timberwolves games. He will provide play-by-play for all Timberwolves radio broadcasts. Teamed with analyst Jim Petersen, Hartman brings knowledgable insight and light-hearted humor to his call.

Hartman, who graduated from Arizona State University in 1988, has done play-by-play work on Minnesota Twins, Minnesota Vikings and University of Minnesota football and baseball broadcasts. He has also lent his broadcast expertise to the local First Bank Classic Tennis event. Along with Twin Cities columnist Dan Barreiro, Hartman hosts a popular afternoon drive-time call-in radio show on KFAN. During the past three summers, the duo has helped raise more than $475,000 for the Sudden Infant Death Center through their annual golf tournament.

Hartman, his wife, Kathleen, and their sons, Hunter and Griffen, reside in Plymouth, Minn.

JIM PETERSEN

RADIO ANALYST

Former NBA forward Jim Petersen returns to the Timberwolves broadcast team for his second season as radio analyst. Teamed with radio play-by-play voice Chad Hartman, Petersen brings the experience of an eight-year NBA career to his analysis. Petersen played forward and center for the Houston Rockets, Sacramento Kings and Golden State Warriors, being traded to that team in 1989 for Ralph Sampson.

Before the NBA, Petersen, a native of Minneapolis, played four seasons for the Minnesota Golden Gophers. For two seasons at the U, he was teamed with fellow Wolves broadcaster Trent Tucker, both playing on a team that won the Big 10 championship in 1982. Before joining the Timberwolves, Petersen, a former Mr. Basketball of Minnesota, spent time behind the bench as coach of junior high schools in LaJolla, Calif., and Hopkins, Minn.

Petersen is single and resides in Minneapolis.

TRENT TUCKER

TELEVISION ANALYST

Former University of Minnesota guard Trent Tucker returns for his fifth season as the broadcast analyst on Timberwolves television broadcasts on KARE, KMWB and MSC. On October 16, 1990, Target Center arena opened in the heart of Minneapolis' downtown entertainment district. The Timberwolves played the Philadelphia 76ers in an exhibition game that evening, and the thousands of basketball fans that had watched the team play its first season across town in the Metrodome, jammed the new state-of-the art Target Center to its rafters. The basketball fans have been filling it ever since.

The Target Center building is easy to find, located on the western edge of the downtown business district and just steps from the exciting Minneapolis nightlife. Each game, the Target Center can hold up to 19,006 Timberwolves fans, who can choose from numerous patron services and amenities to make an evening with the Wolves even more enjoyable. From the Target Center doors, you are a minute's walk by sidewalk or skyway, to restaurants, night clubs, shopping areas or your downtown hotel.

Timberwolves games in Target Center take place in one of the world's most unique settings. The facility offers excellent sightlines, more than 11,000 parking spaces for events located in garages across the street, a 12-ft. by 16-ft. video replay board and the highest restroom-to-patron ratio in the industry, plus a world-class health club and a full-service restaurant. The building also offers special needs accessibility, comfortable, theater-style seats and complete access through the skyway system parking ramps.
